A Review of the Apostolic Faith Movement and Their Key Doctrines: Are They Biblical? Quintin W. Wingate

Church Movement from the early twentieth century, in particular, dating back to the Azusa Street Mission (1906), to the present and some of their key doctrines. It is my intent to identify and examine their teachings, and provide explanation on how they formed their system of beliefs in order to understand how many of their preachers and teachers have determined that they are right, and most denominations are in error. If Apostolic's are right in their doctrinal beliefs, particularly on the doctrine of water baptism, salvation, the Holy Spirit, tongues, holy living, and the God-head, then all other denominations should be willing to change and conform to the teaching of the Apostolic Faith Movement. However, on the other hand, if Apostolic's are proven to be unbiblical in any of their teachings, then they should be willing to change and line up with Scripture. This is in no way intended to be a negative attack on any denomination. We are just trying to get it right according to the Bible when it comes to certain doctrines that are taught among the Apostolic Faith Movement
