A Pearl of Powerful Learning: The University of Cracow in the Fifteenth Century (Education and Society in the Middle Ages and Renaissance) Paul Knoll

The first fully developed history of the University of Cracow in this period in over a century, A Pearl of Powerful Learning. The University of Cracow in the Fifteenth Century places the school in the context of late medieval universities, traces the process of its foundation, analyzes its institutional growth, its setting in the Polish royal capital, its role in national life, and provides a social and geographical profile of students and faculty. The book includes extended treatment of the content of intellectual life and accomplishments of the school with reference to the works of its most important scholars in the medieval arts curriculum, medicine, law, and theology. The emergence of early Renaissance humanist interests at the university is also discussed."
